DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8 January 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:
3. A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
4. (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
5. Claims 1-3, 5, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rairden, III USPN 3,998,603 for the reasons of record in the Office Action mailed on 26 July 2006.

Response to Amendment

6. In view of applicant's amendments and arguments, the section 112, first paragraph rejection, the section 112, second paragraph rejection, and the double patenting objection of the Office Action mailed on 26 July 2006 are overcome and therefore withdrawn.

7. In view of applicant's amendments and arguments, applicant traverses the section 102 rejection over Rairden, III of the Office Action mailed on 26 July 2006. Applicant argues that the position of the alpha chromium layer of Rairden, III is not the same as applicant's. This argument is not understood. Firstly, as does applicant, Rairden, III aluminizes a Ni-Cr containing layer. See, for example, applicant's Claim 2. Secondly, the resulting article of Rairden, III can be described as having an inner chromium alpha phase and outer layer of the claimed beta and gamma prime phases for the reasons already of record. This inner and outer layer structure is claimed by applicant. Hence, it is unclear, with respect to the claimed structure, what claimed positional aspect is absent in Rairden, III. To bolster applicant's traversal arguments, applicant refers to an "explanatory drawing" in applicant's comments, but no corresponding drawing is present in the filewrapper papers. Applicant argues that the alpha chromium layer of Rairden, III is not a chromium precipitation layer as presently claimed. While applicant may be correct that the layers of Rairden, III and those exemplified in applicant's Specification have been formed under different fabrication conditions, including precipitation conditions, it is unclear why the layer in Rairden, III cannot be identified with a layer formed by precipitation. To the extent that the chromium alpha phase layer in Rairden, III is formed, it can be said to have been precipitated or indistinguishable from one that had been precipitated. Without some specification of a compositional or structural property that necessarily must be present in a precipitated layer as claimed, it is unclear how this terminology can be said to distinguish applicant's claimed layer from the alpha chromium phase layer of Rairden, III. With respect to Claim 6, it is remarked that the NiCr layer in Rairen, III can be identified with the claimed substrate, meeting the limitation of Claim 6. Rejection is maintained.
